

Cookie Policy

On this website, www.marinegovernance.com (which I'll abbreviate to 'the website'), I have chosen to not use any statistics cookies or any marketing or tracking cookies. In addition, there are no embedded social media tools within the website and there is no requirement, or possibility, for any visitor to log in or to provide comments.

Consistent with the above, based on my research using the developer links in both Chrome (More tools > Developer tools > Application > Cookies) and Safari (Develop > Show web inspector > Storage > Cookies), it appears to me that the website, with the following exception, places no cookies when it is visited.

The only exception is when I, as the site owner, log into the website through WordPress. Then the website leaves four functional cookies (three from WordPress and one from Wordfence), but these are specifically for me (for log-in authentication purposes). They are not left on my device when I visit the website without being logged in.

On that basis, I have not set up a cookies consent banner on the website.

If you have comments or queries about my cookie policy, please contact me at:
daniel.owen@marinegovernance.com

This version of my cookie policy is dated 30 August 2025. I will periodically update my cookie policy, in which case I will publish the updated notice on the website.